Biography

Swiss born in 1973, Georg Neufeld knew very early that his love to the music will have a major impact on his life. He was always surrounded by music, supported by his family and driven by his soul. At age five he started to play the piano and guitar, took classical piano lessons and added the drums to his repertoire at age nine. At age 13, he formed his first jazzfunk band „brainstorm“ where we wrote the songs for all 9 musicians and played the fender rhodes and synth.

At 16 he started to take jazz piano lessons and drums. His wide interest in the different shapes and functions of sound and music took him from native music from all cultures, jazz, funk, the old hiphop and improvised music. He got studio jobs as keyboarder since age 17 and learned how to produce track with atari notator, an akai S900 and his synths. Also he played the drums in a bigband and two more grunge-funk-punk bands.

inspired by his elder brother clemens neufeld (who was the first continental european who released a record on strictly rhythm, now running giant-wheel records), electronic music and its production ways became a major focus more and more. In 1991 he started to spin house, acidjazz and dope beats and along to his university studies of musicology and ethnomusicology, he constantly worked on this dj skills, spinning at clubs and underground locations around switzerland, austria and germany.

In 1998, Georg built his first music computer on PC and took a sidejob as sound engineer at some studio, where he learned a lot. That made him adventure himself to become self-employed as sound engineer, musician, remixer and dj in 2000 – which is still his daily bread today.

The early 2000s were devoted to hundreds of live concerts and Dj-ing at clubs and business-events, collaborating with worldwide professional musicians as far as original material is concerned but also tons of remixes. two trips to Chicago, the birthplace of house music, made himself go deeper into the origins of music, not only house music, but every deeply routed music around the globe.
